

ABTLL - Ten Thousand More

well you taught me thousand things when i was with you and then you left me and you taught me ten thousand more i never thought i could love again but i know i'll find a love it won't be same cos i've learnt ten thousand things and a thousand more

well you left me with a hurt that i never thought would leave me alone Oh, i've cried those tears and i cried them on my own and i know i deserve much more it's a feeling i know that i can't ignore cos i've cried those tears and i cry a thousand more so don't take offence but i think that it's only fair if i question the truth when you say that you don't care it's just familiar faces don't become strange overnight

if i remember right

i'll remain to be sad until the end of my days oh but somewhere in the distance there's a parting of the ways and i will dive into the deep end oh i don't care cos i can swim to the end cos i've swam ten thousand leagues
and a thousand more
it's just familiar faces don't become strange overnight
if i remember right
it's just familiar faces don't become strange overnight
if i remember right
if i remember right